Adoption

Where families are united by God and chosen by each other, a bond sealed by a promise to love unconditionally, no matter the storms they face.

Mello

We are Adam, Jessica, Madilyn, Rylee, & Paxton. We are so excited to introduce ourselves to you. Thank you for taking the time to view our profile as you lovingly consider an adoptive family for your child. Though we cannot imagine how difficult this decision is for you, we admire the courage and selfless love you are displaying. It is our hope that through the next few pages, you will see our heart as a family and we pray that God will lead you as you make this important decision.

Adoption is very special to us and is at the core of who we are as a family. Even as children we knew that adoption would be a part of our lives and it touched our hearts even at that young age. Each of our children have a special birth story that is their very own. The love that we have experienced through adoption is like no other. The loving and respectful relationships we have with our birth families is awe inspiring. We currently have the pleasure of experiencing the unconditional love of an open adoption and we wouldn't have it any other way. We love surrounding our children with as much love and support as possible. We communicate with our birth families weekly at minimum. We enjoy visits and vacations with them too. Having our birth families available to our children is very important to us. We remind our children daily that they were loved immensely and that the love a birth parent has for their child is a great and selfless love that we hope they feel every day! We have the utmost respect for you and partnering with you to raise your child would be our honor.

God Bless,

Adam + Jessica

This is Us

We have been married for 14 years. We met at a basketball game in college. Over the next year and a half, our attraction grew into an unbelievable love. We knew, without a doubt, that we were supposed to spend our lives together. We were married in July of 2006.

After growing as a couple, we desired to grow our Family. We soon learned that parenting biologically would not be how we were meant grow our family. Growing our family through adoption was the plan for us. We were granted the desires of our hearts with the adoptions of Madilyn in 2010, Rylee in 2013, and Paxton in 2017.

What He Loves About Her

Jessica is far and away the most remarkable person I've ever known, I remember the first time I ever saw my wife. I will never forget the glow that surrounded her as she smiled at me or the way my stomach flooded with butterflies when she said "hello."

Jessica's work ethic as a nurse and wife is second to none. When something needs to be done, she is the first to step up and take responsibility. Jessica is a compassionate friend and is loved by everyone she meets.

As a mom, Jessica is remarkable. There is nothing she would not do for our children. She spends every minute she can playing, singing, reading, going places and just enjoying being with them. The bond between them is incredible.

I am so excited to share my life with you! I grew up in a small town and attended the same school system from Kindergarten until I graduated high school. My family and I were very active in our community. My mom was a teacher in the school system and my dad was a counselor in the community.

I have 2 older brothers. We have always had a very close relationship and they are two of my biggest supporters. One of my fondest memories of my brothers was the year we all attended the same school together. Our middle school and high school was in the same building. The year I was in 6th grade, my brothers were in 10th and 12th grade. Every single day, without fail, my brothers would find me in the hallway, hug me, kiss my head, and make sure that I was adjusting well to life in the "big school." I am blessed that we still maintain that type of relationship today! My brothers and I were very active in our community and in our school. My parents stood behind us and supported us in every endeavor. There was NEVER an event that my parents missed. Every single time we looked into the crowd, we would ALWAYS see my mom and dad cheering us on.

When I graduated from high school, I attended college about 3 hours from home. I studied nursing in college and graduated with a Bachelors of Science Degree in Nursing. I loved my college experience for many reasons, one being that it is where I met my husband!

I have been a Medical/Surgical nurse and a school nurse but my greatest passion is being an OB/Labor and Delivery nurse. OB is where I have spent the majority of my career. Nursing brings me joy. Every second I am able to be there for my patients and their families is an honor. I am fortunate to now work only 1-2 days a week and get to spend the majority of my time being a wife and mom! As passionate as I am about being a nurse, it is my children and my family who bring me the most happiness. Being a mom and a wife is the greatest thing I have ever experienced. Watching my children learn and grow is the most rewarding experience. Watching my husband be the most amazing father makes me fall more in love with him every day. We strive to be ever present for and supportive of our children and we swell with pride watching them succeed and be caring individuals who have so much love to give.

At this point in my life my hobbies are my kid's hobbies. My time is spent taking them to school, picking them up from school, helping with homework, taking them to basketball practice, hapkido practice, horse riding lessons, and bringing them together every night for a family meal around the table. These hobbies are my favorite hobbies and I soak up every minute of them. It will be my honor and privilege to share my life and these hobbies with you and with your precious baby!

What She Loves About Him

Adam is an incredible man. I thank God for him everyday. We are truly soul mates. He is extremely loving and supportive. He still melts my heart when he walks into a room. He is the definition of unconditional love and he creates such comfort for me in any situation. Adam's sense of humor keeps our home filled with laughter.

He has such a passion for life and for people. Adam just completed his doctorate and is a middle school principal. He sincerely cares for every life he comes in contact with. We are grateful that with his job, I am able to be very present for our children.

There is no greater pleasure than to watch Adam be a father. His parenting is second to none. He invests his whole self into our children every second he can. I love watching him swell with pride as he watches them grow and learn and develop into fabulous people.

I grew up in a small town and attended the same public school system from kindergarten through high school. I was very involved in sports throughout high school. I ran track, played basketball, and football. Both of my parents are retired public school teachers. My father was my high school math teacher, and my mother was my high school English teacher. I have an older brother whom I have a strong relationship with. We get together with my family at least weekly for dinner.

After high school, I attended college where I earned a degree in Religion and Philosophy. During my Junior year of college, I met Jessica. She and I went on our first date in January of 2005, and we have been together ever since. We were engaged the following July and got married in her hometown in July of the following year, 2006. After graduating from college in 2006, I began my career in education. From 2006-2013, I taught middle school English and coached football and basketball in the community where I grew up. During my tenure there, I earned a master's, specialist, and doctorate degree in Secondary English Education and Teaching and Learning. In 2013, I became an assistant principal in a county not too far from where I grew up. Our family moved to this county, where we live today. I am currently a middle school principal here.

When I am not at school, I am always with my family. I value my time with Jessica and my kids above everything else in my life. We love to spend time together doing almost anything: playing sports or board games, putting together puzzles, going to restaurants and shops, playing outside, watching movies, drawing pictures, or anything else that we can do to spend time together. There is nothing more important to me than making sure that I take care of my kids, that I support them no matter what, and that they know beyond a shadow of a doubt that they have my unconditional, eternal love.

I am excited and humbled at the prospect of bringing another child into our home to join our family.

Where We Call Home

Our home is situated on over 10 acres and is nestled in the foot hills of the Mountains. We love to explore the pasture, swing, play in the tree house and enjoy S'mores around the fire pit!

We have incredible neighbors with kids who love to play. Our community is very close knit and supportive. We enjoy participating in recreational activities with the community such as basketball, martial arts, and horseback riding. We are excited to soon bring our horses home to our pasture! We are blessed to have amazing schools in our community. We are very involved in our school system. Adam is the principal of a local middle school and Jessica volunteers on the parent council. Our kids love school and have made so many great friends. One thing we love most about our community and neighbors is the bond shared with the people. Everyone is so caring and giving and would never hesitate to help however needed. Whether it is a cup of sugar, help around the house, or just a conversation or advise, they would never hesitate to come running!

We Are Family

Family is very important to us. Family is our biggest support system. We have been extremely blessed with awesome immediate and extended families who have been excellent examples for us to live by. Over the years we have made priceless memories at birthday parties, holidays, traditional vacations and trips, cook-outs, and countless other activities. We are blessed to live very close to our families and see them multiple times every week. Our families are very supportive of adoption and we look forward to welcoming another precious child into our loving family.
