

Alex & Alex

Hello,

We want to start by saying that we have an incredible amount of love and respect for you, no matter what path you choose for your child. We can't put ourselves in your shoes, but we know it must be so difficult even to consider creating an adoption plan for your child.

We have put together this profile to share our story with you. We hope that you will learn about who we are, how we've come to adoption and the love we will give to our future child.

We have always dreamed of becoming parents and growing our family through adoption. We are so excited to share our lives and future with a child including many adventures in Toronto, our global travels, our love of learning, and lots of fun with our large extended family.

We want to thank you so much for taking the time to learn something about us. We hope that you will consider us as potential adoptive parents as you make this decision for the future of your child.

Our Story

We met over 11 years ago while traveling in India and have shared many milestones together ever since - pursuing our careers, going to graduate school in Connecticut & building our home and life in Toronto.

We have so much in common at our core – our values, our love of family, and our commitment to each other. We open one another up to new experiences through our different interests and personalities and can't wait to do the same with our future child.

We've had an amazing time together over our first decade together and are so excited to begin growing our family through adoption.

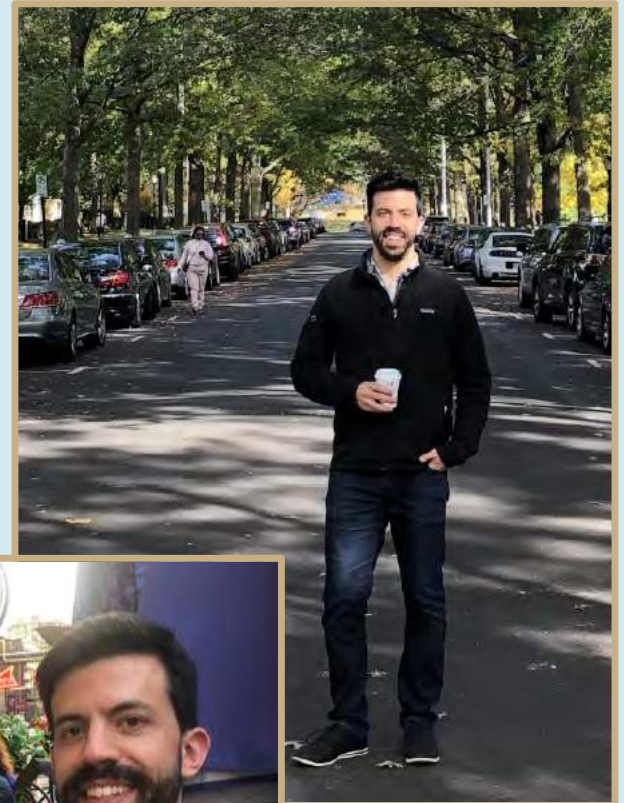

About Alex by Alex

The first thing that I noticed about Alex was his laugh. He's able to find the light side in almost any situation. But he's also my rock, he's incredibly supportive of me – and he's also the person that his friends and family look to during difficult times.

Alex loves people – he's always making new friends and catching up with old ones (it's not unusual for him to double-book!). While he's very social and loves to be out and about, he also loves to lose himself in a good book and absolutely loves movies.

One thing I love about Alex is just spending time together doing simple things, whether it's taking a walk, making dinner together, or even just going to the mall.

I love watching Alex interact with children – he has such a beautiful, playful energy – and I know he's going to be an amazing father.

Fun facts about Alex!

About Alex by Alex

After over a decade together, every day I find more that I love, respect, and admire about Alex. She truly amazes me.

She deeply cares about her friends and family and has an incredible ability to understand people. It's like she can anticipate what someone is going through, and exactly what they need before they do. She's so supportive of me and I've grown so much because of her.

She works hard at everything she does. She's too humble to admit it, but I see how much she is respected by her colleagues and looked up to by the people around her.

Alex gives everything her all but also has a very playful, lighthearted, and funny side. I love all these sides of her!

I know that Alex is going to be an incredible mother. I'm so excited to raise a child with her. I know she's going to love our children deeply and give them a wonderful life.

A little bit more about Alex!

She loves every kind of animal.... horses, dogs, cats, even raccoons!

Her favorite foods are Indian and Thai!
She loves spicy food and trying new things.

She loves entertaining and planning parties for friends and family! Creating special moments for them makes her so happy and lets her express her creative side!

She loves spending time in nature including going on hikes and snowboarding!

She is a business consultant, working with CEOs of some of the largest companies in Canada.

Our Home

We live in a residential neighborhood just outside the downtown core.

We live in a cozy 3-bedroom home, right across the street from one of the best parks in the city (there's even a playground, tennis court, and hockey rink!)

Our neighborhood is very family friendly and many of our close friends and their young children live nearby

Our City

We are so lucky to live in Toronto!

Toronto is the largest city in Canada and the 4th largest city in North America!

It's the most diverse and multi-cultural city in the world...and we love to explore all the amazing restaurants and cultural festivals that the city has to offer!

Toronto is one of the greenest cities in the world with many parks, ravines and green spaces that we love to explore!

We love to travel!

We even met while traveling in India on a volunteer trip over 10 years ago and our love for travel has not stopped since!

We've been to many countries together...and have many more on our bucket list. We love visiting our friends all around the world!

We can't wait to share our travel adventures with our future child! There is so much we are excited to experience with them.

Adoption

Due to medical risks to our future child, our doctor has recommended that we don't have children biologically, but adoption has always been something that we wanted to pursue – we've talked about it from our first years together.

We feel so grateful for all the excitement and support from our friends and families since we began this adoption process. We also feel so welcomed by the community of 'adoptive families' we've become a part of throughout this journey.

We are so excited to be taking this next step and begin growing our family through adoption.

Thank you...

...for taking the time to consider us as you make this difficult decision. We want you to know that we will love our future child unconditionally. We promise to surround them with love and provide them with every opportunity to follow their dreams and explore their passions.

We want what is best for our future child. We promise to raise them with a deep appreciation for who you are and the love that you have for them. We would love to be able to explore an open agreement that works for all of us to ensure they are connected to every family member who loves and supports them.

Thank you again for considering us.
