We may not have it together, but together we have it all :)

WHEN WE HAVE EACH OTHER,
WE HAVE EVERYTHING

They say a picture is worth a thousand words; so, I hope that these few images provide you a glimpse into our lives. What you can't see behind the photos is how many bribes we made to get everyone to look at the camera or to just smile. We are real people, we don't try to pretend we are something that we are not. Sometimes we argue, at least once a day someone cries, and if we all make it out of the house dressed and on time, it is a good day :) We also laugh everyday, hug each other, and tell each other we love them each and every day. We definitely do NOT have it all together, but together we absolutely have it all!

THANKFUL

We want you to know how much we appreciate you taking the time to look at our profile and most of all for choosing life for your baby. From the moment we first considered adoption we have been praying that God would continually show us His love through this process and that we would, in turn, be able to show His love to others. Whatever decision you make for you and for your baby, we pray that you choose eternal life with Jesus as your Lord and Savior.
