

Joey & Amy

Hello!

Hello from Amy and Joey! Thank you for taking the time to consider us as potential adoptive parents for your child. We respect and admire your choice to give life to your baby.

We believe your care, your well-being, and your concern for your baby are most important during this adoption process, and we want to be here to support you and share this journey with you.

About Us

We met in 2018 on a Christian dating site. We soon had our first date at a Starbucks and talked for hours. Things just felt right. While dating, we realized that our relationship was meant to be as something was always missing when we were apart. In mid-2020 we were married in front of those we love, and soon after we purchased our home. Ever since, we have been wanting to start a family, and adoption is the path to realizing our dream. We have had a miscarriage, and fertility treatments have been unsuccessful. Even though we have not been able to conceive a child, we want to start our family as soon as possible. We are excited to have this opportunity through adoption. We have so much love to give and want to fill our home with the joy and laughter of a child.

Joey works from home as an electrical engineer manager and Amy is a part-time ultrasound technologist. Amy's job will allow her an easy transition to motherhood as she can work when she wants and can be at home when we adopt.

For fun we enjoy a lot of activities together... going to baseball games and cheering on our Atlanta Braves, walking around our neighborhood and the park that is adjacent to us, playing board games, and enjoying family activities at our local church. We also love playing around at arcades and working in the yard together.

We look forward to teaching things to your child and sharing things that mean the most to us. It will be a lot of fun teaching them how to catch a ball, ride a bike, skateboard, and even ice skate. We are excited to share the holidays with our extended family as we play crazy games, hunt for eggs, share gifts, and gather around the dinner table for special meals.

Meet My Wife Amy

The first time I met Amy, I knew from her smile that she was somebody special. She is a happy person who always thinks the best of people. Her happiness and natural optimism bring joy to everybody around her. She brings a bright and colorful atmosphere to our home, and she is extremely playful and greets every day with an infectious uplifting attitude. Be it her large stuffed ostrich that kids love to play with or her intense board gaming sessions, she is always looking to have fun. She enjoys longboarding, board games, cooking, gardening, ice skating, and art, especially watercolors. She enjoys getting everybody involved and making sure they are all having fun while appreciating the moment and making sure to smile.

Amy will make a great mother because of her loving and accepting nature. She has previously worked as a mental health and human services counselor with foster children and helped them all feel accepted and loved. She has countless stories of working with children who were just misunderstood. She brought peace and comfort, and she will always have this loving attitude toward your child. Her love and support show that I could not ask for a better person to start a family with.

Meet My Husband Joey

Joey is a pretty special guy. He has all the attributes of a wonderful husband and will make a fabulous Dad. You know how they say kids can read people and know if someone is a good person? Well, let me tell you that all kids are drawn to Joey! My nephews met Joey for the first time while we were dating. Right away they started calling him Uncle Joey, the BEST uncle ever. They instantly connected with him like they had known him for years. Now he reads to them, plays in the pool for hours on end, and even rough houses with them. They love his playful, yet gentle personality. He's so patient and the boys know it. Personally, I love his loyalty to family, his generosity, and his honesty. All of these personality traits make me so excited to share a family with him.

Joey is a big sports fan and loves the Atlanta Braves and the Florida Gators. He enjoys participating in a wiffleball league and is also involved at our church. Other interests are building LEGO and video gaming. He's also a big history buff!

Our Home & Community

We live in a beautiful little neighborhood north of Atlanta, Georgia. We are located in the perfect spot to raise a child with many activities and opportunities nearby. Our neighborhood has direct access to a large park where we enjoy taking walks. We also like taking our friends and their children there to enjoy the playgrounds and ballfields. Directly behind our house is a beautiful horse farm. We have award-winning schools in our diverse community, and they are all within walking distance. We are active at our church, and it is growing every year with new activities for children. Our church is currently adding a splash pad! With Atlanta, Lake Lanier, and the north Georgia Mountains a quick drive away, there are so many adventures to look forward to!

Amy's Family

Amy's parents, Grandma Tracy and Grandpa Hank, are wonderful grandparents. They feel that it's a privilege to be a grandparent. In fact, they can't stay away from their grandkids. They take them everywhere: the pool, the beach, hiking, and even skiing. After school there is homework together, reading, baking, and playing games. The boys are so fortunate to have them in their life. Grandma and Grandpa are eagerly waiting for another grandchild. Grandma Tracy and Grandpa Hank live only 15 minutes from us!

Amy's fraternal twin sister and her husband are devoted parents to their sons, Henry and Rami (10 and 7). The boys are really excited about having a new baby cousin.

Joey's Family

Joey was born and raised in Georgia, and his parents are still in his nearby hometown, while his sister, brother-in-law, and new niece are just a quick flight away. His parents, Grandma Terry and Grandpa Jeff, are doting grandparents. They have been so excited to have a granddaughter, and they are always available to help. It is sweet to see how gentle they are with her, and every time she visits, their faces light up with joy. They are thrilled to welcome another grandchild.

Joey's younger sister, Aunt Kelly, is married to Uncle Justin. They were recently blessed with a baby girl, Andi. They are a fun bunch and are really excited about having a cousin close to Andi's age. Joey's family looks forward to sharing the traditions of visiting extended family for Thanksgiving and marveling at all the lights on Christmas Eve.
