

ANNA + JORDAN

hello! We're Anna & Jordan

Thank you so much for taking the time to get to know us and for considering us as potential parents for your child. We can only imagine the strength, love, and courage it takes to make an adoption plan, and we want you to know how deeply we respect and admire you for it.

Our story began online—two people looking for something real and finding exactly that. After two years of dating, we were married in 2017, and now, over ten years together, we can't imagine life without each other. Our relationship is built on laughter, mutual respect, and a steady partnership that has seen us through life's highs and lows.

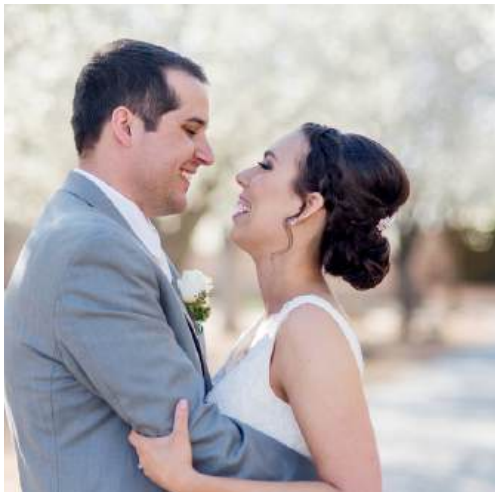

In 2022, we welcomed our daughter through adoption, and she has filled our lives with more laughter, love, and joy than we ever imagined. Becoming parents has been the most meaningful and fulfilling experience, and it has deepened our desire to grow our family again. We have so much love, energy, and support to share with another child, and we can't wait to open our hearts and home even wider.

Our Story

Jordan serves in the U.S. Navy as a trumpet player, and his career has taken us to some incredible places. Each move has brought new experiences, friends, and memories, and we've learned to see every change as an opportunity to explore and grow. As a military family, we've embraced adventure and flexibility, finding joy in wherever life leads us.

Anna worked as a nurse before becoming a stay-at-home mom after our daughter joined our family through adoption in 2022. She loves every moment of being home – from morning snuggles to playground time and bedtime stories – and she brings her gentle, caring nature into everything she does.

We love our simple traditions – weekly pizza nights using our outdoor pizza oven (a tradition we picked up while living in Italy!), cooking and baking together, exploring new places, and taking long family walks. Our life is full of laughter, music, and love, and we can't wait to share that joy with another child.

MEET Anna

Anna has one of the kindest, most nurturing hearts I've ever known. Before becoming a stay-at-home mom, she worked as a nurse, and caring for others has always come naturally to her. She's compassionate, patient, and has a true gift for making everyone feel loved and supported.

Anna brings so much joy to our family. She loves to cook and bake, explore new places, and is always up for an adventure. She's thoughtful in everything she does and finds happiness in the little moments—family walks, bedtime stories, and laughter around the table.

Watching her as a mom is amazing. She's gentle, creative, and devoted, and I know she will pour that same love and warmth into any child who joins our family.

MEET Jordan

He is one of the kindest, most passionate people I know. As a military musician, he serves our country with pride and brings the gift of music wherever he goes. There's always a melody playing in our home—whether it's Jordan practicing, sharing his favorite songs, or arranging new tunes.

Jordan has a calm, steady presence and provides so well for our family. He has a playful side too—he loves working on his model trains and sharing that hobby with our daughter. We spend a lot of time cooking together and laughing in the kitchen, which is one of my favorite parts of our day.

Watching Jordan as a dad has been one of the greatest joys of my life. He has such a sweet, gentle relationship with our daughter—she absolutely adores him. I know that any child who joins our family will be deeply loved, supported, and cherished by him.

MEET Ella

Ella joined our family through adoption at birth, and she has filled our lives with more joy and laughter than we ever could have imagined. Now three years old, she is spunky, sweet, and always on the go! Ella has a big personality in a tiny package—she loves meeting new people, exploring new places, and making everyone around her smile.

She's happiest when she's on the move—running, dancing, or playing outside—and she never turns down a good story or cuddle at the end of the day. Books and bedtime stories are some of her favorite moments.

Ella's bright spirit and loving heart bring so much happiness to our home. We know she will be the most caring, enthusiastic, and fun big sister when the time comes!

Anna's Family

Family has always been a big part of Anna's life. Though Anna lost her mom when she was twelve, she feels grateful to have known the love of two amazing moms—her mom and her stepmom—both of whom helped shape her into the caring and resilient person she is today.

Anna has a sister on her mom's side, and while they don't get to see each other as often as they'd like, they share a special bond that time and distance can't change. She's also very close with her younger brothers, who bring so much fun and energy to family gatherings. They absolutely love being uncles and have a blast whenever they visit.

As a military family, Anna and Jordan don't live near relatives, but they make the most of visits and talk with family often. Whether it's laughing together on the phone or spending time outdoors during family trips, there's always plenty of love, silliness, and joy. Family time—no matter where it happens—is always something to be cherished.

Jordan's Family

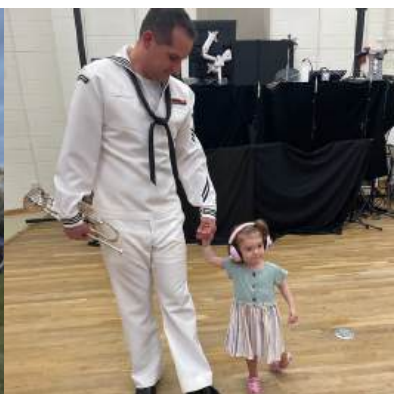

Jordan grew up surrounded by love and encouragement. His parents have been married for over 45 years and have always been incredible examples of dedication and kindness. They raised Jordan and his sister, Jenn, to follow their dreams and work hard for what matters most.

Some of Jordan's favorite memories from childhood are simple ones—watching movies together as a family, or celebrating magical holidays filled with fun traditions and togetherness. Those moments of warmth and joy helped shape the values Jordan carries today.

Although they live in different states now, Jordan and his family stay close, chatting often and visiting a couple times each year. His parents are now proud grandparents who adore spending time with their granddaughter and creating new memories whenever they're all together. Family has always been—and continues to be—the heart of Jordan's life.
