Bobby and Elizabeth

Dear Expectant Parent,

Thank you for taking the time to learn a little about us. We recognize that you may be considering many different possibilities for yourself and your child, and we're grateful for the opportunity to share a little of our lives with you. We hope these pages give you a glimpse into who we are, the life we share, and the love we would wish to give a child.

Thank you for allowing us to share a little piece of our story with you. We hope you'll enjoy getting to know us throughout these pages!

Bobby and I got married in June of 2021, and one of our greatest hopes was always to build a family. We love the life we've built together, and for many years we have dreamed of growing our family and sharing that life with a child. After years of hoping to grow our family biologically, we eventually felt called to pursue adoption. It wasn't a decision we made lightly, but we are so excited about the possibility of welcoming a child into our family.

Our life is full of laughter, three very spoiled dogs, two cats, family, friends, and plenty of love. We enjoy spending time together, crafting, cooking, being outside, and making memories with the people we care about. We look forward to sharing those everyday moments with a child and watching them discover the world and all its wonders.

Bobby and I met in the summer of 2020 through a dating app called Coffee Meets Bagel. Because of the circumstances of COVID, Bobby was teaching virtually, and I was working as a nanny but was between clients. This gave us the opportunity to spend a lot of time together and get to know each other on an accelerated timeline.

Bobby proposed in Nashville in January 2021, at the end of a city-wide scavenger hunt that led to various murals throughout Nashville. Each mural gave us a clue leading to the final destination: The Cathedral. Our Catholic faith has remained a centerpiece of our marriage, and we are committed to raising our children in that faith.

One of our favorite things about our relationship is that we genuinely enjoy doing life together—whether we're traveling somewhere new, working on a project around the house, or spending an ordinary evening at home.

About Elizabeth

I currently work as an administrator for an autism therapy company, and I love being in a field where I can see the impact of the services we provide and the growth of our clients.

Before that, I spent five years running my own business as a postpartum doula, supporting new moms and babies through those important first weeks and months. While it was incredibly fulfilling, I eventually chose a job with more consistent hours, giving me more time with Bobby.

Outside of work, I enjoy going to the gym, reading, cooking, and creating embroidery projects. I'm happiest spending time with Bobby, our friends and family, and our animals. I'm creative, caring, organized, and almost always have a project in progress—usually followed by a trip to the craft store for just one more thread color!

Bobby jokes that my greatest quality is being resourceful. I love taking on a challenge and finding a creative solution.

ABOUT BOBBY

I work as a middle school Music Appreciation teacher, where I love sharing my enthusiasm for music, technology, and the arts with my students. Last year, I was honored to be nominated for Teacher of the Year at my school!

Outside of the classroom, I enjoy woodworking, creating and building 3D projects, and tinkering with small machinery. I'm naturally curious, creative, and hands-on, and I'm happiest when I'm learning something new or working on my latest project. I also play the euphonium (similar to a tuba) with several groups across Atlanta.

Life in our home is characterized by love and companionship, as well as the occasional chaos that comes with all our animals! We live in a fairly quiet neighborhood, but we are fortunate to have wonderful neighbors who have become an important part of our support system.

We are also very involved in our church, which offers a variety of events and activities throughout the year and gives us opportunities to connect with our community. We are close to a beautiful park and our local library, and we enjoy getting out to explore the area together. We look forward to sharing these places and experiences with our child and watching them become part of the community we love.

Bobby and I love to travel! So far, we've been to Norway, Switzerland, Mexico (pictured above), the Dominican Republic, Spain, and Canada, not to mention many different states throughout the U.S. Bobby's favorite travel memory was experiencing the Northern Lights in Norway, while mine was seeing the Alps in Switzerland. We love exploring new places together and are always thinking about where our next adventure will take us.

Bobby has one younger brother who is disabled and still lives with his family in New York. While we aren't able to see them as often as we would like, we make an effort to visit when we can or meet somewhere in between. We cherish the time we get to spend together and look forward to helping our child build a relationship with their extended family.

FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY. FAMILY.

Elizabeth has three siblings—two brothers and one sister. Most of her family lives locally, and tries to get together at least once a month to hang out, play games, and stay involved in one another's lives. Family gatherings are an important part of our lives, and we look forward to our child growing up surrounded by cousins, aunts, uncles, and grandparents.

We want our child to grow up knowing that adoption is part of their story and never something they need to hide or feel uncomfortable talking about. We hope to speak about their first family with respect and honesty and, when possible and appropriate, build a relationship that allows our child to know the people and history that are part of who they are.

Our Nephews

We dream of a future filled with family adventures, Sunday dinners, holiday traditions, and plenty of laughter. We want to encourage our child's interests and dreams, whether that means cheering from the sidelines, helping with a new hobby, or simply being there to listen. Above all, we hope they grow up knowing the importance of faith, kindness, gratitude, and making the world a little better through the way they treat others and themselves.

ALWAYS LOVED. ALWAYS PRAYED FOR. ALWAYS LOVED. ALWAYS PRAYED FOR. ALWAYS LOVED. ALWAYS

Thank you for spending this time getting to know us. Whatever decision you make, we are grateful that you considered our family.
If we are fortunate enough to become parents through adoption, we will give our child a safe and loving home where they are encouraged to ask questions, make mistakes, explore the world, laugh often, and become completely themselves.
We will honor the story that brought them to us, including the people who loved them before we ever knew them. Above all, we hope our child always knows that they are deeply loved and that their story will always matter.
